East Sussex College students celebrate their achievements on Level 3 Results Day 2026.

Students across East Sussex College's Eastbourne, Hastings and Lewes campuses celebrated their A-Level, T-Level and Technical & Professional results on 13th August, marking the culmination of years of hard work, determination and commitment.

Many students will be going on to their first-choice universities, starting higher apprenticeships, or going into the world of work.

Among the highlights, 110 students achieved A or A* grades in their A-Levels, while 56 A-Level courses recorded a 100% pass rate.

George King

Sophie Gore studied Film, Graphics and English, achieving A* A B and is heading to University Arts London to study Graphic Design.

"I visited East Sussex College during my taster day in year 10 and I loved all the art stuff. The art department is really good, and I've had really good support from helpful teachers. During my studies, I did an industry placement with Bright Foundation, where I helped make a documentary. I'm really excited to go to uni in London and my goal is to work in film or media in the future."

Chloe Jenkins

George King studied English, Biology, Psychology and an EPQ achieving A* A* A B. He is taking a year out before heading to Newcastle University School of Medicine to study Medicine.

"I'm really happy with my results and I really enjoyed my time at college. I felt really supported and my teachers really pushed me to do my best. Alongside my three A-Levels, I did an EPQ on brain-computer interfaces for a treatment for Locked-in syndrome. I'm looking forward to learning more at uni next year after my year out."

Sophie Gore

Chloe Jenkins studied Business, Economic and Sociology, achieving ACC. She's now looking to start her career in full-time work or a higher apprenticeship.

"I really enjoyed Business and it's inspired me to start my career now that I've finished my A-Levels. I'm interested in exploring a higher apprenticeship so I can earn a salary rather than take a student loan. The things I'll always remember about college will be the great atmosphere, the teachers and community."

Isac Braiden, who studied T-Level Health at the Hastings campus, achieved a Merit and is now preparing to join the University of Brighton to work towards his goal of becoming a paramedic.

Lacey Kingham studied T-Level Health at the Hastings campus and achieved a Merit. She is progressing to the University of Sheffield.

"I've really enjoyed the T-Level - it was very practical which is perfect for how I learn. I did my industry placement within the NHS and that helped me decide which subject to study at uni."

Isac Braiden

"I'm really proud of my Merit in T-Level Health. I have additional learning needs and the support I've received throughout my time at college has been really great."

"The T-Level appealed to me because I prefer to learn practically, so the placement element of the course was a big factor in me choosing it. I'm now excited to join the University of Brighton."

Lily-Mai Carter

Lily-mai Carter achieved a Merit in T-Level Health and will be studying Midwifery at University of Brighton.

"I'm so pleased with my Merit. I worked really hard over the last two-years and it's all paid off. I'm really grateful for the support my tutors gave me and now I'm another step closer to my ambition of becoming a Midwife."

Preparing students for what comes next

Across East Sussex College, students benefit from opportunities to gain valuable experience alongside their studies, including work placements, industry placements, mentoring and live projects.

These opportunities are supported by the College's extensive network of employers and industry partners across Sussex, helping students develop the practical skills, confidence and experience they need for their future careers.

Through East Sussex Futures, the College's partnership with the University of Sussex, students are also supported to develop the independence, confidence and skills they need to make informed decisions about their futures and progress to university.

Rebecca Conroy, CEO & Principal of East Sussex College, said, "Results Day is always a moment of immense pride for everyone at East Sussex College.

Whether they are progressing to university, apprenticeships or employment, we know they are leaving the College with the skills, confidence and experience they need to take their next steps and succeed. We are incredibly proud of everything they have achieved and look forward to seeing all they go on to accomplish in the future."
